NON-SPECIALIST: The Recommissioning of SALT

Wednesday 13 Jul 2011 at 11:00 (00h30')

Content :

Following the repair of the SALT optics in late 2010, the telescope has reentered the commissioning phase with its principal scientific instruments, SALTICAM and RSS. Both these instruments have undergone major refurbishments in their own right, and their current status and that of the telescope will be described, together with an update on its performance.
