

Contribution ID: 328

Type: Presentation

Optimisation of two volumetric solar receivers that use oil as a heat transfer fluid

Fluent 6.3 software has been used to optimise the designs of two volumetric receivers. The model results indicate that the use of a wire mesh in these receivers does improve their performance. A wire mesh of porosity ≈ 0.95 has also been found to be sufficient to improve the efficiency

Primary author: Dr MLATHO, JUSTICE S.P (NORTH-WEST UNIVERSITY)

Co-authors: Prof. MCPHERSON, Michael (North-West University); Mr VAN DEN HEETKAMP, Robert J (North-West University); Prof. TAOLE, Simeon H. (North-West University)

Presenter: Dr MLATHO, JUSTICE S.P (NORTH-WEST UNIVERSITY)

Track Classification: Track F - Applied and Industrial Physics